

After co-sponsoring a ban on Congressional stock trading, Greg Landsman failed to disclose 87 different stock transactions that violated the STOCK act, involving over $1.4 million in transactions. Landsman only admitted it was a mistake after getting caught.

In August 2024, Landsman Co-Sponsored The TRUST In Congress Act, Legislation Banning Members Of Congress From Trading Stocks. Since Sponsoring The Legislation, Landsman Has Purchased Up To $220,000 Worth Of Stocks:

On August 6, 2024, Landsman Co-Sponsored H.R. 345, The TRUST In Congress Act. (H.R. 345, Introduced 1/12/23)

The Legislation Would “Prohibit Members Of Congress From Trading Stock While In Office And Require Members Of Congress To Place Their Holdings In A Qualified Blind Trust.” “The TRUST in Congress Act (H.R. 345) would prohibit members of Congress from trading stock while in office and require members of Congress to place their holdings in a qualified blind trust.” (Issue One’s Website, www.issueone.org, Accessed 2/12/26)

Greg Landsman Dumped Hundreds Of Thousands Of Stock After Admitting He Violated The Rules Outlined In The STOCK Act

In 2025, Landsman And His Wife “Dumped Hundreds Of Thousands Of Dollars Worth Of Corporate Stocks They Personally Owned, Including Shares In Defense Contractors And A Tobacco Company ...” U.S. Rep. Greg Landsman and his wife, Sarah, recently dumped hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of corporate stocks they personally owned, including shares in defense contractors and a tobacco company, according to new federal financial disclosures reviewed by the Dayton Daily News. Landsman’s March 27 stock sell-off comes several months after the Democratic congressman — who has crusaded for stronger anti-corruption and government disclosure laws — himself violated the existing Stop Trading on Congressional Knowledge Act of 2012 by failing to properly disclose dozens of stock trades.” (Dave Levinthal, “Area Congressman Dumps Stock After Admitting To Violating Rules,” Dayton Daily News, 4/15/25)

STOCK Act Violations

In September 2024, One Month After Co-Sponsoring The TRUST In Congress Act, Landsman Released An Ad Claiming “Members Of Congress Are Using Insider Information To Get Rich Trading Stocks.” The Same Month It Was Revealed That Landsman Failed “To Report More Than 87 Financial Transactions Within The Legally Required Timeframe,” Involving Over $1.4 Million In Trades

Video: In September 2024, Landsman Ran An Ad Claiming “Members Of Congress Are Using Insider Information To Get Rich Trading Stocks. That’s Crazy.” (Landsman for Congress’ YouTube Page, “Listening,” Published 9/5/24, Video Begins At 0:03)

The Same Month It Was Revealed Landsman Himself “Failed To Report More Than 87 Financial Transactions Within The Legally Required Timeframe...” “Rep. Greg Landsman (D., Ohio) has spent years pushing government ethics reforms and demanding more financial transparency from public officials. But the congressman failed to disclose his own transactions for months—a violation of the STOCK Act, a campaign finance expert told the Washington Free Beacon. ... But Landsman filed a required disclosure form in August showing that he failed to report more than 87 financial transactions within the legally required timeframe. That failure, according to Craig Holman, an ethics lobbyist with the progressive think tank Public Citizen, is a violation of the STOCK Act, a 2012 law intended to combat insider trading through financial transparency.” (Meghan Blonder, “Dem Rep. Greg Landsman, an Aggressive Financial Ethics Crusader, Failed To Disclose His Stock Trades,” The Washington Free Beacon, 9/19/24)

- “Landsman’s First Periodic Transaction Report (PTD) Provides Details About 91 Transactions. It Includes Which Stocks Were Traded And When, But Only

Provides Dollar Ranges In Terms Of The Value Of The Transactions. Landsman Reported 83 Transactions Ranging In Value From $1,000 To $15,000 And Eight Transactions Ranging From $15,000 To $50,000. (Todd Zinser, Op-Ed, “Landsman needs to explain why he failed to disclose stock trades,” Cincinnati Enquirer, 10/7/24)

Editor’s Note: As highlighted in the article, Landsman owned hundreds of thousands of dollars in companies representing industries he railed against, including pharmaceutical and oil companies.

Greg Landsman, an Aggressive Financial Ethics Crusader, Failed To Disclose His Stock Trades,” The Washington Free Beacon, 9/19/24)

Editor’s Note: Landsman’s PTR details 91 trades with 87 representing violations of the STOCK Act. The total amount Landsman traded is up to $1,645,000 but as four trades fell within the required window the safest number we could cite for STOCK Act violation purposes would be “over $1.4 million.”

On May 13, 2025, The Same Day Landsman Announced He Had Sold All His Stocks, He Filed A PTR Almost A Year Late, Violating The STOCK Act Again:

On May 13, 2025, Landsman Issued A Press Release Claiming He And His Wife Had “Sold All Their Individual Stocks...” “Congressman Landsman And His Wife, Sarah, Have Sold All Their Individual Stocks And Reinvested In Mutual Funds And Exchange-Traded Funds (ETF) To Become Completely Compliant With The TRUST In Congress Act.” (Rep. Greg Landsman, “Landsman Complies With The TRUST In Congress Act Before It Becomes Law,” Press Release, 5/13/25)

On The Same Day, Landsman Filed A Period Transaction Report Listing An Exchange Of Exxon-Mobil Stock After Its Purchase Of Pioneer Natural Resources Company, 327 Days Past The Required 45-Day Notification Period. (Rep. Greg Landsman, Periodic Transaction Report, Filed 5/13/25)
