

Knickerbocker Said Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Is “Failing”, Even As Nearly 40,000 Ohioans Work There

In An August 2026 Podcast, Knickerbocker Claimed That Wright-Patterson Airforce Base Was “Failing”

In An August 2026 Podcast, Knickerbocker Claimed That Wright-Patterson Airforce Base Was “Failing.” KNICKERBOCKER: “My district is home to the largest single site employer in Ohio, which is Wright Patterson Air Force Base. It employs nearly 40,000 people. Mike Turner insists that he is the reason Wright Patterson Air Force Base exists today and without him it will fail. Well, I can tell you it's already failing. The people that work at Wright Patterson Air Force Base have been failed.” (“Meet The Veteran Nurse Practitioner Fighting To Flip OH-10: Kristina Knickerbocker,” United SHE Stands, 8/11/26) Minute 16:08-16:32

On Knickerbocker’s Campaign Website, It’s Stated That Knickerbocker Has Seen How The American Health Care System Is “Failing” From Her Experience As A Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Veteran

On Knickerbocker’s Campaign Website, It’s Stated That Knickerbocker Has Seen How The American Health Care System Is “Failing” From Her Experience As A Wright-Patterson Air Force Base Veteran. “As a Wright-Patterson Air Force Base veteran and nurse who has seen how our health care system is failing firsthand, Kristina Knickerbocker has led a career committed to public service. She believes it’s time to hold Washington accountable, and that’s why she does not take corporate PAC money and supports term limits. Meanwhile, Mike Turner has been in politics for more than 30 years, enriching himself and his donors, while we all pay more for healthcare, groceries, and utilities.” (“Media,” Knickerbocker For Congress, Accessed 9/29/26)

- Wright-Patterson AFB Employes Nearly 40,000 People. “Wright-Patterson Air Force Base is celebrating a very special milestone when it comes to job growth. The base is the employment hub for 38,000 military, civilian and contractor employees.” (Alese Underwood, “WPAFB em-employment number soars to 38,000,” Spectrum News, 8/12/24)
